Dr Craig Mosley DVM, MSc, DACVAA

Dr. Craig Mosley graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College at the University of Guelph where he also completed a residency and Master's of Science program in veterinary anesthesia. Dr. Mosley has been actively involved in many facets of veterinary medicine since graduation including; mixed animal practice, critical care medicine, teaching, management and of course, anesthesia in both private and academic practices throughout North America. Dr. Mosley's varied experiences have provided him with the foundation for his practical and "real-world" approach to anesthesia and pain management. Dr. Mosley is currently working as a Staff Anesthesiologist at VCA Canada, 404 Veterinary Emergency and Referral Hospital in Newmarket, Ontario. He is also an independent consultant, Mosley Veterinary Anesthesia Services, providing direct clinical support, continuing education and consultations to both private and academic institutions. His interests in veterinary anesthesia are diverse, encompassing everything from wildlife and zoo animal anesthesia through to the equipment used to maintain and monitor anesthesia; and from the management of perioperative pain to the issues surrounding chronic pain and palliative care. His wider interests in veterinary medicine include innovations in veterinary education, the science of clinical decision-making and medical errors. In his spare time, Dr. Mosley keeps bees, dreams of sailing the world and spends time re-exploring his home province with his veterinary anesthesiologist wife and two young daughters.
